Gina D. Nisbeth is a Director in the Structured Lending and Investments Group. She began her career with Citi 16 years ago on the Short Term sales and trading desk. Gina traded the municipal Tender Option Bond portfolio to money market funds for 10 years, growing that program to the largest in the industry. She transitioned into Citi Community Capital, Citi's community development lending and investing group, in 2009 and she is now responsible for the management of Citi's New Markets Tax Credit program including transaction origination and structuring as well as portfolio management. Ms. Nisbeth also serves as the President of the firm's Community Development Entity, named the Citi NMTC Corporation.

Gina graduated from Rutgers College with a B.A. in Political Science and as an Eagleton Institute of Politics Undergraduate Fellow. She later received an MBA from The Fox School of Business at Temple University with a concentration in Finance. Gina holds a Series 7 and 63 licenses from FINRA.
