What happens next?

- We will acknowledge your complaint promptly, but no later than five business days from the date we have received your complaint.
- We aim to resolve the majority of complaints within five business days. We will send you a final response letter that will outline how we have corrected the matter.
- However, if we are unable to correct the matter within five business days, the written acknowledgement will confirm that we are in the process of investigating the complaint.
- We will keep you informed of the status of our investigation and if we are unable to resolve your complaint within four weeks we will write to you to explain why we are not in a position to do this. We will also give you an indication of how long we expect the process to take.
- After eight weeks, we will send you either a final response in which we will tell you whether or not we have upheld your complaint, the details of any redress we propose to offer you and the reasoning behind our decision; or an explanation as to why we have been unable to complete our investigations together with an indication as to when we expect to give you a final response.
- If you are unhappy with our final response, or if we have been unable to provide you with one after eight weeks, you may seek the assistance of The Financial Ombudsman Service, whose details are set out below:
